CASEGOOD CONSTRUCTION*

Drawer fronts are separate from the drawer box, simplifying replacement, if necessary.

Drawer construction includes dowels and staples on sides with an additional bead of glue along perimeter of drawer bottom.

Dressers and bedside cabinets have a stile between each drawer for structural support.

Drawers have metal drawer slides that are tested to 100 lb capacity per drawer and have drawer stops for safety. Drawers are easily removable by lifting up over the glides.

Ventilated backs of all units promote airflow.

All bedsides, dressers, and wardrobes have a full bottom board for structural support.

All units have smooth floor glides for ease of movement.

European-style hinges provide superior strength and adjustability. Doors can be removed without removing hinges from either the door or cabinet. Hidden hinges offer 110 degree swing and are self-closing.

ADA compliant wardrobe clothes bar available in each wardrobe.

Optional locks are available for all units. Locks are generally placed on the top bedside drawer or on wardrobe doors. Two keys are provided per lock. Master keys are available with initial order.

All bedsides, dressers, and wardrobes have a full bottom board for structural support.

All units have adjustable leveling floor glides to ensure wardrobe stays stable and level on uneven floors.

STURDY ACT COMPLIANCE

GRAHAM-FIELD CASEGOODS MEET TODAY'S FEDERAL SAFETY STANDARDS

WHAT IS THE STURDY ACT?

The STURDY Act was created to address a serious safety concern: furniture tip-overs.

Furniture tip-over incidents have been responsible for thousands of injuries and numerous fatalities across the United States, particularly involving young children and vulnerable populations. In response, Congress enacted the STURDY Act (Stop Tip-overs of Unstable, Risky Dressers on Youth Act), establishing new mandatory federal safety requirements for clothing storage furniture.

Effective September 1, 2023, clothing storage units sold in the United States must comply with enhanced stability testing requirements adopted by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).

At Graham-Field, safety has always been a priority. Our compliant furniture solutions are engineered and tested to meet the latest federal stability requirements, helping healthcare providers, senior living communities, and facility operators reduce risk while providing a safer environment for residents.

Previous voluntary standards did not fully account for real-world conditions that contribute to instability. The new federal requirements introduce more rigorous testing designed to better reflect how furniture is actually used.

New Requirements Include:

- ✓ Stability testing on carpeted surfaces
- ✓ Loaded drawer testing
- ✓ Multiple drawer-open scenarios
- ✓ Dynamic force testing that simulates real-world use
- ✓ Interactive testing with forces equal to children up to 60 lb
- ✓ Enhanced warning and safety labeling requirements

Casegoods must successfully pass these tests without tipping over to be considered compliant.

Why Compliance Matters:

For healthcare facilities, senior living communities, behavioral health environments, and residential care settings, furniture stability is more than a regulatory requirement—it is a risk management priority.

Non-compliant or outdated furniture can expose facilities to:

- Increased safety risks
- Potential injury claims
- Regulatory concerns
- Higher replacement and maintenance costs
- Greater liability exposure

As regulations evolve, facilities are increasingly seeking casegood solutions that are designed to meet today's safety expectations rather than yesterday's standards.

Investing in Casegoods Built for Today's Standards:

Many casegood products currently in circulation were developed before the latest federal stability requirements took effect or are currently developed overseas to where they aren't aware of the latest requirements. As organizations replace aging casegoods and plan future purchases, ensuring compliance with the STURDY Act has become an important part of responsible facility management.

Graham-Field remains committed to delivering furniture solutions that support safer environments while helping customers stay aligned with evolving industry standards.

Because when it comes to resident safety, stability should never be optional.

Contact Graham-Field to learn more about our STURDY Act compliant casegood solutions and how they can support your facility's safety initiatives.

The Graham-Field Advantage:

Our furniture solutions are designed with stability, durability, and long-term performance in mind.

Graham-Field Compliant Furniture Features:

- ✓ Designed to meet current STURDY Act requirements
- ✓ Enhanced stability performance
- ✓ Healthcare-grade construction
- ✓ Durable materials for demanding environments
- ✓ Attractive residential appearance with commercial durability
- ✓ Reduced risk of tip-over incidents
- ✓ Support for facility safety and compliance initiatives

When evaluating casegood purchases, compliance and safety should be considered alongside aesthetics, durability, and cost. Selecting casegoods that align with current federal safety requirements helps protect residents, caregivers, and organizations alike.
